

Tome's Fish

By Nelson Ameo
Pictures by Tony Hiriasia

Nguzu Nguzu Reading Books

Original edition 1995

Second edition 2015

Third edition 2017

Review and re-development project

Coordinated by Deborah Kole, Marie Quinn and Joanna Kelman
under the Literacy Programme Management Unit (LPMU) within the Ministry of Education and Human Resource Development

Series editor: Marie Quinn

Development team: Joanna Kelman, Clement Balea, Sonia Basile &
Christopher Mali

©Copyright Ministry of Education and Human Resource Development 2015

All rights reserved. Any parts of the book may be copied, reproduced or adapted to meet local needs without permission from the authors, provided that parts reproduced are distributed free for educational purposes only. Written permission should be obtained from the Curriculum Development Division if the book is reproduced to make profit.

Tome's Fish

By Nelson Ameo
Pictures by Tony Hiriasia

One day Tome found a little fish in a small pool near the beach.

Tome put the fish into a coconut shell and he fed it for a week.

At the end of the week,
the fish was too big for the shell.

Tome put the fish into a wooden bowl and he fed it for a fortnight.

At the end of the fortnight the fish was too big for the wooden bowl.

Tome put the fish into a big drum and he fed it for a month.

At the end of the month,
the fish was too big for
the drum.

Tome put the fish into a water tank and he fed it for a year.

At the end of the year,
the fish was too big for
the tank.

Tome asked his father,
“Where can I put the fish
now?”

“You can put it in this pot,” said Tome’s father.

And that's what Tome did.

